

Provider

You thrive when caring for the people around you.

Attentive to detail, respect for structure, bringing order to whatever you're involved in, you find motivation in helping others.

You are social, confident and naturally gifted working with others and want to make a difference. You derive satisfaction from making sure that other people's needs are fulfilled.

Spending time with others and engaging in deep conversations is what recharges your battery. You like to have people around you.

You make a great host or speaker and can delight audiences in an entertaining manner.