

Director

You have an innate desire to lead!

Known for your dependability, loyalty, and ability to follow through you enjoy being in charge of others. Coordinating and supervising others comes easy to you, giving orders and directing projects is your second nature.

You work hard, are diligent, and thrive in traditional work environments where there is structure and hierarchy. You love to have goals and want to reach and grow within an organization - whatever kind that be - personal or professional.

You are sociable and community-oriented and are often involved in social organizations and other associations.
